Building on Quality

We understand how critical it is that our partners can provide their clients with door products that help them realize even the most demanding vision.

This is why Moehl Millwork is proud to stock the finest brands of interior doors.

Doors inform and reflect the Interior Design Aesthetic

Moehl Millwork features Lynden Door products that fulfill a wide range of project specifications and budgets meaning that you will be able to discover a Lynden Door that meets your tastes and requirements.

For more than 35 years, Woodgrain Doors has been one of the building industry's leading suppliers of beautifully designed and engineered wood exterior and interior doors.

Woodgrain Doors has never been content with "good enough", instead committing to continually improving its manufacturing, design, craftsman, and materials sourcing.

Choosing Your Door

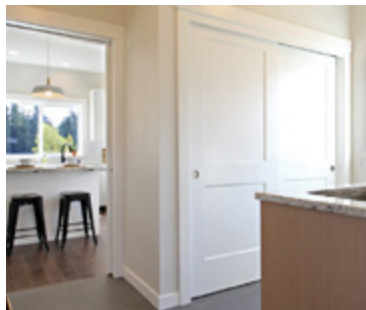

Because your interior doors can determine the style and flow of your home, choosing which style is best for you can be overwhelming. Even in the midst of the abundance of interior doors in the market today, choosing a door for your home does not have to be complex.

To simplify your selection process, here are a few simple considerations that will guide your decision:

1. Door Style

- Bifold, Bypass, or Standard

2. Paint or Stain

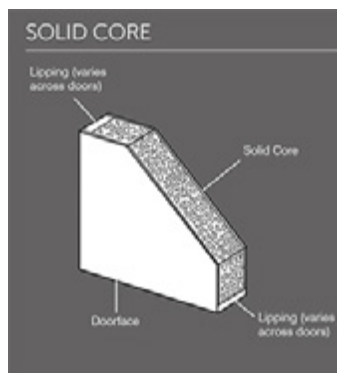

3. Construction

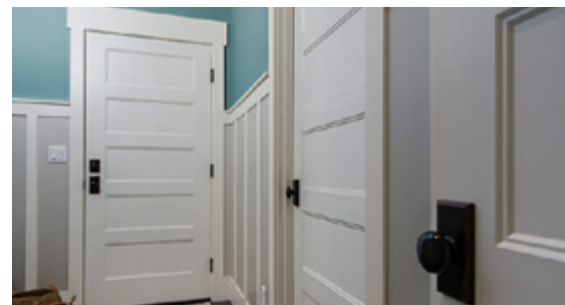

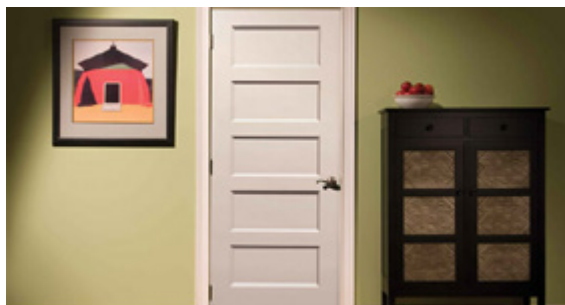

- Prefinished Embossed Hardboard
- Primed Flush
- Primed Molded
- Wood Flush
- Raised or Flat Panel
- Full or Divided Lite

4. Hollow or Solid Core

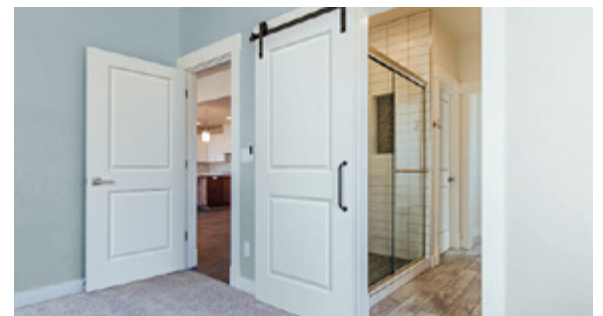

5. Fire Rated/Non-Rated

TRUSTILE[®]

DRIVEN BY DESIGN[®]

Window and exterior door choices often take into account the visual impact on outside admirers and passersby.

However, the goal for selecting the right interior doors is to achieve an intimate and personal effect that will be appreciated by those who live or work in home or building you are constructing.

MDF - Painted Medium Density Fiberboard (MDF) doors with stile and rail construction

Reserve – Solid wood encapsulating a warp-resistant composite core

Wood – Solid wood doors featuring dowel construction and stave lumber cores

Koch Doors

Every Koch Door is designed and built according to the highest possible standards.

They use the best woods, the finest veneers, the most durable construction, and the most beautiful designs. Koch Doors' signature Lag Bolt construction secures stiles and rails, keeping joints tight to reduce cracking of the paint surface.
